God: Builder and Maker

By (Jerry Fite)

Abraham is brought to our attention in Hebrews 11 as an example of one living his life by faith. “By faith he became a sojourner in the land of promise, as in a land not his own, dwelling in tents, with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise: for he looked for the city which hath the foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Hebrews 11:9-10).

The contrast is made between the transitory sojourning in tents with an abiding city with foundations. The land to which Abraham traveled, some 400 miles away, was not his own, and in this land, he sojourned in tents which have no permanent foundations. He obeyed God and began his sojourning while looking for a future abode or city with permanent foundations and constructed by the same almighty and faithful God who called him. We, with Abraham, should be seeking “after the city which is to come” (Hebrews 13:14). This city is heaven.

Two words describe the activity of God in preparing for us the permanent city: “builder” and “maker.” The word, “builder” is from the Greek word “TECHNITES,” denoting one who does things by art, therefore a craftsman (Acts 19:24, 38), or as some versions translate the word:

“architect.” The word “maker” is from the Greek word, “DEMI-OURGOS,” Denoting “one who works for the people” or the one who does the actual work.

God is therefore both the architect and actual framer of the city to come. Being of God, our heavenly abode is “not made with hands” (2 Corinthians 5:1). It is eternal, having permanent foundations crafted after the wisdom and power of God.

The heavens and earth upon which we now live have the same architect and maker. “In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth” (Genesis 1:1). Jeremiah exalts God in His creative work by writing, “He hath made the earth by His power, He hath established the world by His wisdom, and by His understanding hath He stretched out the heavens (Jeremiah 51:15).” By God’s power, the earth came into existence manifesting the blueprint produced by God’s wisdom and understanding. God as the architect used “the Word” – Jesus Christ as the instrument to carry out His plan. Speaking of Jesus as the eternal word, John claims, “All things were made through Him, and without Him was not anything made that hath been made” (John 1:3). Psalms 33:6 declares, “By the word of Jehovah were the heavens made, and all the host of them by the breath of His mouth.” Jesus Christ is the eternal Word or God who carried out the Father’s plan.

The fact that we and animals breathe oxygen that plants give out, and plants use carbon dioxide that we and animals cannot use indicates a planner or architect behind this exchange. The fact that we can send spaceships to the moon and beyond depending upon laws which allow men to calculate the time of their trips within the specificity of a fraction of a second speaks of one who originally set such immutable laws in motion.

Our bodies contain their own filtration systems. The liver filters toxins from the blood with nutrients supplied by the small intestine. The kidneys filter excess waste and release it into the urine. That mucus you cough up is a designed filtering system at work. Tiny hairs working back and forth in the air passages move along the sticky mucus which has collected unwanted particles unto the throat for disposal.

Believers in God see design and say this “necessarily implies” that a designer exists. The Hebrew writer reminds us that such truth is not just implied but specified and claimed in Scripture. God is both the architect or builder and maker of not only this world but the one to come!
